

Draconis Vineyards (“Draconis”) offers simple discounts on wine in exchange for customers returning year over year.

Base rules:

- The returning customer must be the same person (or couple) from the previous year.
- Customers cannot transfer discounts to anyone, regardless of relationship.
- If you miss a year, then the discount sets back to the last sale discount made by you.

Discount rules:

- Can be used as many times in one year to a maximum of three cases.
- Minimum order is three bottles.
- Discount applies to retail price of the wine only.

Year	Amount of Discount
First Year	No discount
Second Year	15% off retail price
Third year	20% off retail price
Fourth Year	25% off retail price
Fifth and all years beyond	30% off retail price

What if's:

- If you forget to buy wine for the vintage year, your discount will roll back to the last good sale you made
- Returning customers (year over year) will receive early notice of wine via email

Draconis is a first come first serve winery. There are absolutely no lists, clubs, or stupid memberships. When the wine is ready, it's sold to you and any consumer may purchase. Note: 'consumer' is underlined. If you are a wine reseller, wine merchant or other broker, you cannot have the wine unless you just want to drink it. I made it to be drunk, not to be resold for someone else's profit. To be clear: 'consumer' means to DRINK the wine.

Fair Warning: These wines are hand-made and have taken an inordinate amount of time and energy to make. As such, they are designed to be specifically delivered to customers with the sole intent on being consumed and enjoyed. *If I discover that you are reselling Draconis for a profit or are taking advantage of this process in anyway, I will ban your ass forever and from all of my wine.

Now, if you have further questions about these rules, don't hesitate to contact me via the website contact form. I'm always willing to answer your questions!

Matt